

News Flash

Dear Friends and Readers,

Just a few updates and reminders. Please discard the old cehaines@mindspring.com e-mail address and change it to carolynhaines56@gmail.com. I really do enjoy hearing from you, so I want you to be able to stay in touch. I've delayed this change for too long, but I'm closing that old account at the end of this month.

On a personal note, Miss Scrapiron turned 32 this month and Mirage is now 28, and both are doing fine. We haven't reached the heat of summer, which is hard on them (and me!) but I have sprayer systems in the barns to "mist" the horses during the hot months. And fans. So we'll soldier through the best we can until the respite of wonderful fall.

Rosie the Red Dog has moved to a new home. This was a heartbreaker for me, but there was such animosity between Rosie and Zelda that something had to be done. And I found the perfect home for Rosie. I've written a blog about it, which will post May 25 at <http://www.southernauthors.blogspot.com/>

So, of course, I found a new dog in the woods Friday. She is tentatively named Sorrow. Not because she is sad, but because I am sorrowful that I can't manage to get below 21 animals. She's a precious beagle-mix, and once she's in good shape I hope to find her a loving home. I'm sure I'll be writing more about Sorrow and the rest of the dog pack and the 8 cats.

On the book front, WISHBONES will be out in paperback June 2, and the official release date for GREEDY BONES is July 7. I'm planning some scattered signings, so check my Web site at <http://www.carolynhaines.com/>. I'm going to do my best to keep the postings more current. Or look me up on Facebook, where Priya is so good about posting information. (Priya is the one to credit for all current information there.) We're trying to post a lot of information about writing events and organizations in my region, just to help get the word out.

School is out for the summer, so I'm hard at work on Bone Appetit, which is turning out to be a romp and lots of fun to write. So I'm off to write. Please keep reading! And remember, without your support, I wouldn't have a publishing contract. Thank you.

Carolyn and menagerie

2486 Ellen Drive | Semmes, AL 36575
www.carolynhaines.com | carolynhaines56@gmail.com